Dear Mr. Fuller:

We, the graduate class in architecture wish to express our gratitude for the many new ideas which you gave us.

Through the many exciting hours we listened to your lectures, new ways of looking at our role as architects in the world unfolded. Your definitions and the universal approach to the problems are a new set of tools. Furthermore, we are particularly grateful for the new concept of geometry which you showed us.

We know that the best token of appreciation you could possibly receive is the expression of these new ideas. In this respect we feel that the time spent with us, and the many other schools, will surely achieve this end.

Sincerely yours

THE GRADUATE CLASS OF
